Exam Prep For Success!

MDI has exclusively developed exam preparation materials which include content review, test tips and over 750 sample exam questions. Course content is structured using lecture, case studies and individual and group exercises. Although no one course of study can guarantee a passing score, MDI's Review Course has been successful in preparing PHR/SPHR exam participants for over 17 years.

The PHR and SPHR exams are both based on U.S. laws, regulations and practices and are generalist in nature (i.e., they assess all the functional areas of the HR field). They differ in terms of focus and the cognitive level of questions. PHR questions tend to be at an operational/technical level. SPHR questions tend to be more at the strategic and/or policy level.

PHR/SPHR Exam Requirements

Questions regarding certification eligibility are answered in the Certification Information Handbook, available online from HRCI.

Gain the Recognition You Deserve!

Certification demonstrates that you have mastered the human resources body of knowledge and have accepted the personal challenge to stay abreast in the field. To successfully pass the exam, HR professionals must know how to deal effectively with strategic management and planning issues, international competition, management staffing and family and social issues that affect the workplace.

The credentialing exam is given by the Human Resource Certification Institute (HRCI). Additional information is available at www.hrci.org.

The Management Development Institute offers a review course to assist in preparation for the credentialing exam. The course incorporates information that forms the base of the exam and content is consistently updated to include the newest regulations and current trends. Sessions focus on the HR body of knowledge and are designed to:

- 1) assess your competency level,
- 2) review content areas assessed on the exam and
- 3) enrich your test-taking skills.

The PHR/SPHR Review Course was initiated by the Management Development Institute in 1990 and is endorsed by the Springfield Area Human Resources Association. MDI has helped over 250 human resource professionals successfully prepare for the exam!
